A fun and informal workshop for high schoolers (15 to 18 years old) living with diabetes, facilitated by two diabetes social workers.

Topics include:

- Talking to friends and classmates about diabetes
- Coping with the ups and downs of diabetes
- Making room for diabetes care in sports, activities, and hobbies
- Family communication
- Driving, social life, college and transition

Space is limited (a maximum of 12 spaces available) for all workshop dates. Please ensure that you RSVP at least 2 weeks prior to the listed date.

At this time, this workshop can only be offered to patients seen at Seattle Children's Hospital clinics.
