

Summer Opportunities for Children with Autism

The Center for Children with Special Needs at Seattle Children's has recently closed. Despite this closure, the Summer Camps Directory for children with special needs will continue the summer camp listing: <http://cshcn.org/resources-contacts/summer-camp-directory>
The directory is from 2018 but the camps and programs are active and accessible.

In addition to the opportunities listed below, parents are encouraged to join these groups or visit website to meet parents and learn about new camps, activities and events in our region.

The Apex Summer Camp program at the UW Autism Center is designed to provide advanced peer experiences for children with autism spectrum, ADHD, and related disorders. It focuses on building social and behavioral skills in real-world environments. We partner with parents to provide education and training, as well as daily reports, so that new skills can be practiced, coached, and reinforced across environments. Targets of treatment include improvements in the quality of peers interactions, increase in self-efficacy and confidence, and enhanced self-regulation of emotions and behavior. This includes a 5-week intensive summer camp program, a weekly follow-up booster program, and other programs throughout the year. We offer summer clinical internships to graduate and undergraduate students from around the country. *Scholarships Available
