

Join us as a Family Advisor in the Seattle Children's Hospital Psychiatry Department

"Being a Family Advisor has given me a voice to speak up for other families, especially those with young kids coping with mental health disorders. I appreciate how my ideas are heard and the support of the Mental Health providers who've spoken about this topic in my community. The level of commitment of SCH to deliver and improve the services every day based on family's needs is impressive and beyond words." – Maria B.

"Being a Family Advisor has been an amazing opportunity to provide the patient and family perspective on things that matter to me - quality of and access to behavioral health care. The more parents who participate, the better the care can reflect the needs of the community." - Karma K.
