

Autism 101

Seattle Children's Quarterly Series

Attention: All parents, families, friends, and professionals touched by autism.

Please join us for Autism 101, a free 90-minute lecture, intended for parents and families of children recently diagnosed with an autism spectrum disorder (ASD). Lecturers provide up-to-date and evidence-based information regarding the core deficits of ASD, the variability and presentation of behaviors associated with autism, prevalence and etiology, the treatments available, and available resources. A portion of each session is dedicated to answering questions from participants.

**Please note the various locations where Autism 101 classes will be taking place this year.

- Classes are held at Seattle Children's Hospital or the Seattle Children's Autism Center.
- Lectures can also be live-streamed online through WebEx.

For more information and to sign up to view from home, please visit our website:

seattlechildrens.org/classes-community/current-class-offerings/autism-101/

Class Details

2020 Schedule:

Jan. 23, 2020: 7 to 8:30 p.m. Wright Auditorium

Presenters: Rachel Earl, PhD and Valori Neiger MS, BCBA

Apr. 23, 2020: 7 to 8:30 p.m. Seattle Children's Autism Center*

Presenters: Karen Sporn, ARNP and Daisy Ma, MSW, Ed.S.

Jul. 23, 2020: 7 to 8:30 p.m. Wright Auditorium

Presenters: Jennifer Mannheim, ARNP and Andy Lupas, PhD

Oct. 22, 2020: 7 to 8:30 p.m. Room RC.3.905 near the River entrance

Presenters: David Camenisch, MD and Jim Mancini MS, CCC-SLP

Questions? Contact the Autism Center at 206-987-8080.

Seattle Children's HOSPITAL • RESEARCH • FOUNDATION

Autism Center