

John Lantos, MD

John Lantos, MD, is director of the Children's Mercy Hospital Bioethics Center in Kansas City. Prior to moving to Kansas City, he was a professor of pediatrics at the University of Chicago, where he was Chief of General Pediatrics and Associate Director of the MacLean Center for Clinical Medical Ethics.

Dr. Lantos is past president of the American Society of Bioethics and Humanities. He worked on President Clinton's health reform task force in 1993, has had many leadership positions in the American Academy of Pediatrics Section on Bioethics he is Associate Editor of Pediatrics, American Journal of Bioethics, and Perspectives in Biology and Medicine.

He has published hundreds of peer-reviewed articles and many books, including The Lazarus Case, Neonatal Bioethics, and Do We Still Need Doctors? He has discussed designer babies on Larry King Live, medical errors on Oprah, and ethics consultations on Nightline. His latest book, Preterm Babies, Fetal Patients, and Childbearing Choices, analyzes the rise of fetal medicine and how it changes the way we think about perinatal decisions.